AMERICA'S GRAFFITI

Would-be writers and artists have left their marks on many San Mateo County Transit District bus shelters.

America's graffiti abounds on bus shelters

By JOHN CURRY
Post Staff Writer

An elderly woman waiting for a bus has to kick a pile of papers and cans out of the way to sit down in the bus passenger shelter.

While waiting, she is amused, befuddled or shocked by the graffiti all over the chipped and broken concrete walls of the shelter. From the scrawlings she learns the latest in current political thought, the names of many local school students, the sexual preferences of some, some witty sayings and perhaps even a little poetry.

Her exposure to the restroom literature of her neighborhood ends when her San Mateo County Transit District bus heaves into view, and she again shuffles her way through the eat-on-the-run debris of past passengers and boards her bus, where, at the other end of her trip, she may alight at another battered shelter festooned with the cardboard leavings of the modern commuter and the penned hieroglyphics of his strata of society.

King Tut's tomb should have told his story so well.

It is no coincidence that the coming of the boxed snack-to-go and the felt-tipped pen and the decline of the public bus passenger shelter are occurring at the same time all over the Bay Area.

Vandalism also is taking a heavy toll. It costs a bundle to repair them and has left SamTrans going against the tide in current transit agency thinking about building more shelters.

Vandalism has been a problem, but ongoing maintenance is the bigger concern right now as the district continues to put up more new shelters, according to Maureen Hennessy, SamTrans director of communications and designated shelter building and maintenance coordinator.

The district has 80 enclosed shelters of concrete or plexiglass around the county, with 20 more to be built soon. It also has a federal grant of $400,000 for 100 more shelters, but the Board of Directors has decided to go slowly on those until some plan can be worked up to keep them maintained and clean.

Once-a-week maintenance costs $500 to $800 a year per shelter, Ms. Hennessy said. "We have two men on it now, but it's an impossible task to get to all of them," she lamented, adding, "That's all taxpayers' money."

ing they, too, have little manpower to spare, a common reason being Proposition 13.

Vandalism still is worse on the buses than in the shelters, Ms. Hennessy said, but it still hurts to have to repair a shelter.

Panels have been broken out of plexiglass shelters and wooden benches in the shelters carved up. The district is planning to install plastic-covered north and south county maps inside many shelters, show now making the rounds of schools in the county which, besides acquainting children with the bus system, encourages responsibility for taking care of the bus shelters.

The show is part of SamTrans' gearing up to carry most of the bused school students in the county, now that most school districts have cut or eliminated their own bus services in the wake of Proposition 13. "We don't lean too hard on the vandalism angle," Ms. Hennessy said, but it is brought up.

One boy at Crestmoor High School in San Bruno recently suggested a policeman ride a bus for a couple of blocks as a preventive measure. But, Ms. Hennessy said, that means the seat-cutters and shelter painters simply would lie low until the officer was gone. Besides, police departments don't have the manpower for that sort of thing, she went on.

There have been vandals caught. Daly City got two boys defacing a shelter and made them repaint it, she recalled.

But it was not vandals who forced removal of the well-known Transi-Tube at the Hillsdale Shopping Center stop in San Mateo. The tube, with many schedules and maps on it, was taken down three months ago because it wasn't holding up to the weather, she explained.

There has been little crime around the shelters, she continued, "and I haven't heard of any serious crime at all."

One instance where a shelter may have helped was in the slaying of a woman near an unsheltered bus stop in front of 120 N. El Camino Real in San Mateo, three blocks from the SamTrans offices, about a year ago, Ms. Hennessy said.

Her body was found behind some bushes. A shelter is to be installed there within a month, she said.

SamTrans may be the only Bay Area public transit agency actively seeking to erect more shelters, Ms. Hennessy indicated.

The San Francisco Muni system, with 60 shelters, has stopped building them, "and we've been advised not to do it," she said. The Golden Gate Transit system, serving San Francisco and Marin counties, has 100 shelters, but 152 wall panels were reported missing from them as of Sept. 5, she went on.

The Santa Clara County Transit Agency has only 45 shelters and Alameda County Transit has 253, with money for more. "But they sure don't want to do it," she said.

But SamTrans has committed itself.

One of the 20 new shelters going in already is up at Hillsdale Boulevard and Norfolk Street in San Mateo. Four will be added in Foster City and two in East Palo Alto. Four are scheduled for South San Francisco to replace some of the old wooden, barn-like structures that have been there for years.

"People love those shelters for many different reasons" and SamTrans has tried to be responsive to their particular needs, Ms. Hennessy said. There are shelters at the Carlmont YMCA in San Carlos for youngsters there, one at the Bonnie Brae senior housing in Belmont for the elderly, six at San Francisco International Airport for the crowds of commuters going through there, two at Kaiser Hospital in Redwood City, which the hospital staff helps maintain, and one near a senior citizens home on Hoffman Street in Daly City.

Right now the battle is to find space for more, Ms. Hennessy noted.

Two places particularly need them - San Carlos Avenue and El Camino in San Carlos and Hillsdale and El Camino in San Mateo, both for northbound El Camino passengers. But the Southern Pacific Transportation Co., owner of the property in both cases, has been slow about approving the use of the land for them, she said.

SamTrans also is trying to get a shelter in at Bayshore Boulevard and Arleta Avenue in San Francisco, just north of the county line on its Mainline route. "But that will require a public hearing by the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission," she said.

Permission of two oil companies would be needed for two other badly-needed shelters, Ms. Hennessy went on. The busy bus stop on southbound El Camino at Sneath Lane in San Bruno, across from the Tanforan Shopping Center, is plain dangerous, she said.

Buses now drop off passengers at a stop halfway down the block, but children going to the Tanforan movie theaters run across El Camino, cutting through traffic. A shelter at the Shell gas station at Sneath and El Camino could alleviate this by putting passengers close to the crossing signal, she said.

Permission from Arco would be needed for space to build a shelter on northbound El Camino at Ralston Avenue in Belmont, another heavily-traveled spot, Ms. Hennessy said.

Vandalism notwithstanding, the district also has plans to make the shelters a connection point for mobility impaired riders of its Redi-Wheels service with the handicapped-access buses on its regular routes.

"We'll have phones and lights at six shelters for the handicapped, after two-way radios are installed in the buses sometime in 1980," she said. "With that, the Redi-Wheels driver can radio ahead to a Mainline driver to pick up a certain passenger. Or a handicapped person at a shelter can pick up the phone and call for a ride if he's stranded."

Vandalism, maintenance take heavy toll

She said that last Friday SamTrans General John T. Mauro had ordered bids to be called for a private firm to assist with cleaning and maintenance.

"Nobody has volunteered," Ms. Hennessy said. "We've put out appeals for help, but nobody wants to do it."

She noted that several civic clubs and organizations, such as the Redwood City Kiwanis Club, have had projects to install benches, but cleaning up around them is something else.

One Redwood City Boy Scout called recently, asking for materials to build a shelter as part of a Scout project, she went on. He was told no, but he could help maintain existing shelters if he wanted to. He hasn't been heard from again, she said.

The cities in which the shelters are situated have resisted resolutely the appeals of the district to help with cleanup and maintenance, saying with bus routes delineated on them.

"We'll give them a couple of chances, but then we won't replace them if the vandals rip them out," she said. "The frames cost $60 each, not including installation."

The shelters themselves now run $5,200 each for the small 10-foot concrete model and $5,785 for the 15-footer and $1,864 and $3,130 apiece for the 12' and 25-foot plexiglass models, respectively, not including installation and site preparation, Ms. Hennessy said.

She added that SamTrans doesn't own some of the older shelters found around the North County, such as six in Daly City installed some time ago by the Westlake Subdivisions Improvement Association, and some old barn-like wooden structures in South San Francisco. SamTrans likewise hasn't assumed responsibility for the many open benches, most of them along El Camino Real, put up by local agencies and groups.

No progress in Jefferson strike negotiations

Negotiations between the American Federation of Teachers Local 1481 and the Jefferson Union High School District broke off early Monday, at about 3 p.m., but the two sides resumed talks at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Dunfy Hotel in San Mateo.

District spokesman Dave Shepard said Tuesday there has been no progress at all since Saturday in the negotiations, but AFT spokesman Tom Fitzpatrick disputed that, saying, "I think we're closer than the district would indicate."

Shepard said, however, that the district "doesn't see any progress in the foreseeable future" and noted that the strike, now in its 23rd working day and its sixth calendar week, will have cost each striking teacher an average of $2,900 in salary, or 14 percent of the annual total, plus fringe benefits as of Wednesday.

THIS STRIKE may be the longest in the state since the 1976, when the state Rodda Act set up procedures for handling such school district labor disputes, but no one at the district office could confirm that.

Monday was a school holiday, but the striking teachers and office personnel resumed their picketing of the district's six schools Tuesday morning without incident.

Agreements on some of the lesser issues in the strike were agreed to tentatively Saturday. It was reported at the time, but the hard nuts to crack - salaries and minimum staffing - apparently will take time.

Fitzpatrick said the AFT has made five salary offers, the latest being to follow anti-inflationary wage guidelines set by President Carter, but has received no definite dollar figures from the district lately.

District spokesmen have said the district simply doesn't have the money to pay a 7 percent pay increase, the amount currently indicated by the presidential guidelines.

The union originally had demanded 10.2 percent and then binding arbitration to settle the issue, but the binding arbitration "has been on and off the table" several times during the negotiations, Fitzpatrick said.

District Superintendent Floyd Gonella said Tuesday the district's request to the state Personnel Employment Relations Board for fact-finding in the wage dispute "is on record stronger than ever before."

"The big issue is money, and we're so far apart that the only way I can see for us to solve it is to get the independent panel in here," he said.

The panel would determine how much the district could afford to pay and make a non-binding recommendation.

MINIMUM staffing may have been settled partially when the district some time ago agreed to maximum class sizes of 34 students instead of 35. But the union, which also represents office and clerical employees, has insisted on a minimum of seven such full-time positions at each school, which the district has resisted.

Fitzpatrick noted that attorney Gary Mathiason, the district's chief negotiator, wasn't at the negotiating table over the long weekend, and "doesn't seem to show the kind of interest we'd like to see."

Mathiason has been called away from negotiations many times "apparently at the whim of the board (of trustees)," Fitzpatrick said. "He works at it when he's there, though," Fitzpatrick said.

The district also seems to have shown little interest in a no-strike clause, part of the most recent AFT proposal, which also included a provision for a three-year contract, along with the presidential guidelines pay increases. "Their attitude seems to be they could take it or leave it, but we thought we were making a major concession by giving up one of our big weapons," Fitzpatrick said.

Unsuccessful Daly City holdup ends in exchange of gunfire

Four armed robbers - two of them carrying sawed-off shotguns - unsuccessfully attempted to hold up a Daly City restaurant early this Saturday in a caper that ended in a flurry of gunshots exchanged in the parking lot.

Daly City police said four men entered Max's Son Restaurant, 365 Gellert Blvd., through the back door at about 2:55 a.m. Saturday while employees were cleaning up and dumping garbage.

Two of the men were carrying sawed-off shotguns while the other two had revolvers. All of the restaurant employees were herded inside.

The robbers were not able to tap the restaurant's till, but one employee suffered a personal loss of $75, police said.

As the four men were leaving, an employee of the restaurant next door, Wallbanger's, noticed the unusual circumstances - and the fact that the four men were armed - and retrieved a shotgun he carried in his vehicle.

South San Francisco resident Donald Creasy ordered the four men to halt, but their answer was to fire several rounds at Creasy, who fired back once, police said.

The four gunmen got away, but police said no one is sure exactly what method of escape they used. No one was injured.

Daly City is upset concerning 'sphere' report

The long-awaited county Local Agency Formation Commission study on who gets the remaining 310 acres of San Bruno Mountain and environs in its sphere of influence was issued Friday and has brought an immediate howl from Daly City.

The city of Brisbane would get almost all of it, plus the Bayshore district of Daly City, which it recommends be switched from Daly City to Brisbane.

The formation commission Oct. 17 will set public hearing dates on the voluminous report, and Daly City City Manager David Rowe said he probably would be there to give "initial input" on Daly City's concerns about the cost to the area in Daly City police and fire services.

The LAFCO report recommends that Brisbane be given the sphere of influence jurisdiction over the Crocker Industrial Park, which it abuts, the northeast ridge of the mountain, the Brisbane quarry area, and the Bayshore neighborhood of Daly City, which would include the area along Geneva Avenue east of the Geneva Drive-In and take in the Cow Palace and Midway Village.

Four effected special service districts in the area, the Bayshore Sanitary District, County Service Area No. 9, Dimond Public Utility District and Guadalupe Valley Municipal Improvement District, would be assigned a "zero sphere of influence," meaning they would remain as separate entities.

Rowe Tuesday criticized the report, saying "I'm somewhat surprised at the conclusions and the inadequacy of their logic."

"The principal issue, I think, will be that Daly City offers a full range of city services now to the Bayshore area, and I'm surprised LAFCO would suggest that Bayshore give up its full-time Fire Department and make do with an inadequate level of police services. The report also disregards demands for police services at the Cow Palace. Inadequate coverage there could have a great impact on the Bayshore neighborhood."

Rowe noted also that high-rise housing is foreseen for the ridge area and that Brisbane, with its combined police and fire department, reorganized after that city dismissed most of its firemen after Proposition 13 passed in 1978, "would be fighting high-rise fires substantially with volunteers."

He also characterized the Cow Palace as "a high life hazard" because of the large crowds of people it draws, and added that Daly City has been providing fire protection to the Crocker Industrial Park under contract for the past five years.

To lop the Bayshore neighborhood off Daly City also could mean police and fire department layoffs for Daly City, Rowe warned.

The fire and police services likely will become "a principal first issue" at the LAFCO hearings, Rowe said, adding that Daly City will have verbal and written responses to the study at the hearings.

The LAFCO report, however, concludes that since both Daly City and Brisbane are general law cities, both are legally capable of providing needed services. The study also includes a survey of 10 California cities that shows that post-Proposition 13 residential developments don't yield enough tax revenue to their host cities to pay for their required services.

But the report also notes that state law requires contiguity as a condition of annexation, and that Brisbane is the only contiguous city to the area in question. From a drainage and topographical standpoint, Brisbane also is the only city immediately affected, the LAFCO study said.

Brisbane City Manager Brad Kerwin was unavailable for comment Tuesday.

LAFCO Study Coordinator and Administrative Analyst Paul Hood said Tuesday the hearings may go on for one or two months, depending on the complexity and arguments.

Firemen's fundraiser: Where's the money?

By TERRY DAVENPORT
and
JANET PARKER

Just how much money was raised by the promoters of a Christmas variety show fund-raiser sponsored by the San Mateo County Fire Fighters Association, Local 2400, and where did the money go? The answers are still uncertain.

The man directly responsible for that telephone solicitation operation based in Millbrae the past two months said Friday afternoon that all the employees — primarily high school students — will get paid.

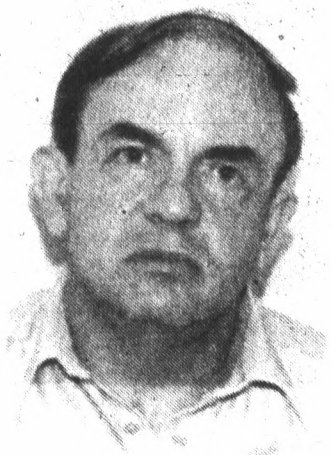

"I'm not going to tell you anything," Joseph B. Fallon said after being located at his residence in San Mateo.

"I only wanted to tell you that we made arrangements to pay the kids and they're getting paid right now," Fallon stated. He hung up after saying he was getting bored by the questioning.

However, there were no promises to Local 2400 about the money it might receive from the Dec. 22 variety show.

When interviewed Friday at the union's office, neither Robert D. Best — the president of Western Productions and the person who hired Fallon and his Angel International Productions to operate the solicitation — nor Robert E. Roesch, president of Local 2400, could say how much money had been raised before it was halted Monday.

According to one Millbrae teenager employed by Fallon, each employee was supposed to sell 26 tickets per week for the Dec. 22 variety show at the San Mateo Performing Arts Center. Ticket prices ranged from $12.50 for three people to $48 for four families.

ROBERT D. BEST

He says he's conducting an audit to find out how much money was raised by Angel International.

However, with 46 employees (as estimated by Best) working eight weeks, each with a quota of 36 tickets per week, the operation could have grossed as much as $165,600 based upon even the least expensive tickets.

More conservatively, with half of the employees meeting their quota, the operation would have grossed $82,800. The employees, the Millbrae youth said, were paid $3 per hour.

The solicitation operation came to the attention of The Post on Friday morning when the father of the Millbrae youth — who obtained the job through Capuchino High School's job placement center — called to say his son's paycheck had bounced and the operation had apparently folded. Best, president of Western Productions, promised to "make good" the check for that worker and any others.

Best said Friday that Angel's checks to its employees began bouncing about three weeks ago, but the situation became critical at the end of last week. He fired the subcontractor, Fallon, and the business folded on Monday, he related.

The Post learned on Friday, however, that Best, a resident of Las Vegas, was involved in telephone solicitation activities in Las Vegas and San Francisco that drew criticism.

Robert Barry, president of the San Francisco Police Officers Association, said his organization fired Best in 1972. He said the SFPD board of directors agreed to let Best sell tickets to and organize a circus at Kezar Stadium in San Francisco but fired him when learning he and his employees were telling customers the tickets were for charitable purposes.

"This was to be a benefit for the association and was not for charitable purposes. It was strictly a business arrangement and he was telling the public it was for charity. Under state law, that's a violation," Barry said Friday.

Interviewed at Local 2400's offices in Millbrae Friday, Best said his previous experience includes organizing a policeman's ball for the police association in Denver last December, running other shows in Cherry Creek Shopping Center in Denver last July and in Westland Mail, also in Denver, around Labor Day.

None of those references could be substantiated. John Schnittgrund, president of the Denver Police Protective Association, said he had never heard of Robert Best and that his organization didn't hold a policeman's ball last year.

"I get a thousand things on my desk from people who want to do this kind of stuff. We don't go for it," he said.

Jackie Abrahamson of Cherry Creek Shopping Center and Joan Novosel of Westland Center, both in Denver, said they had never heard of Best and that he did not organize any functions in their centers over the past two years.

According to sources in the Las Vegas area, Best is presently most involved in publication of a police-oriented newspaper called "The Badge."

In an article in the Las Vegas Sun in May 1978, the county sheriff disclaimed any police connection with the newspaper. In a follow-up editorial, the Las Vegas Sun claimed that "The Badge" "purports to financially support Metropolitan Police Department charities."

"Sales pitches led prospective clients to believe the phone calls were coming straight from a sergeant in Metro's Detective Division. Hardly; it was from a rented boiler room," the editorial states.

"Boiler room" is a term used for a high-pressure telephone solicitation operation that usually takes a large percentage of the profits with the charity involved receiving a much smaller share.

Roesch, Local 2400 president, said the union was to receive 40 percent of the profits from this particular solicitation after expenses, with Best and his contractor receiving 60 percent of the net.

Asked about "The Badge" Friday and shown the "Sun" editorial, Best denied that he utilized fraudulent sales pitches in soliciting advertisements by local merchants.

Best said he is the publisher and owner of the profitable enterprise and has been for nine years.

According to the Denver Better Business Bureau, Best also was at one time owner-president of Silver State Productions, a Las Vegas-based telephone sales firm that was under contract to the Colorado Association of Police Officers.

According to articles in the Rocky Mountain News, Silver State was investigated for consumer fraud allegations in early 1978. The company was selling trash bags on behalf of the officers' group to "aid survivors of killed or disabled police officers."

Eventually, the local district attorney's office asked Silver State to change its sales pitch to better explain why the donation was going.

Later, an employee of Silver State, according to the News, was convicted of felony and misdemeanor charges in connection with soliciting. And, a former operator disappeared with some $7,000 in the police agency's funds, although it wasn't known if he was apprehended and convicted.

"I was their savior," Best contended. He said he took over two troubled contracts for Silver State and "saved them from a very embarrassing situation."

"In this kind of business, you always have this kind of thing happening," Best said. However, in referring to the situation here, he said "nothing like this has ever happened before."

Terry St. Charles, executive director of the San Mateo County Better Business Bureau, said he discourages use of the "boiler room" type of operation.

"I have warned the San Mateo County fire fighters or tried to alert them (that) this type of operation is not an acceptable situation," St. Charles said. Roesch refused to explain why he didn't heed the BBB's advice, indicating only that he has some philosophical difference with the BBB.

Fallon, of Angel International Productions, applied to the local BBB for membership July 26, listing himself as executive vice president of Western Productions and his place of residence as Las Vegas. Best, however, denied Fallon ever held a position in Western, only that he was a salesman and accountant employed by him for about one year.

Best claimed he was unaware of application with the BBB had been denied. He thought he was a member, but he and Roesch didn't understand why they never received the BBB plaque to hang on the wall.

Neither Western nor Angel ever obtained a business license with the city of Millbrae, according to a spokeswoman in the city hall licensing department. The city was aware of the operation and sent letters asking them to register, but the letters went unanswered, she said.

Meanwhile, Coldwell Banker Associates in San Mateo, leasing agent for the office building at 231 E. Millbrae Ave., is dealing with the aftermath left by the tenants of suites 208 and 209.

Pacifica considers ordinance requiring permits for off-road vehicle traveling

An ordinance requiring riders of motorcycles and other off-road vehicles to obtain a permit before riding on Pacifica beaches and hillsides is being considered by the city.

The ordinance would make it illegal to operate a motor vehicle, motorcycle, minibike, dirtbike, dunebuggy or motorcycle off a public highway or street unless a permit is obtained from the Parks, Beaches and Recreation Commission.

Private property owners or their family members could use their property to operate an off-road vehicle, but in some cases a permit would have to be obtained.

Those persons not required to get a permit would include those using authorized emergency vehicles or publicly-owned vehicles or someone driving only into or out of a parking area.

Private roads also could be used without a permit when the off-road vehicle is used just to get to that private property.

Permits would be valid for one year and the vehicle could be used only between 6 a.m. and sunset.

Violating the provisions of the ordinance could result in a $50 fine for the first offense, $150 for the second offense and $250 for third and subsequent fines.

The Pacifica City Council forwarded the proposed ordinance to the Transportation and Safety Commission Monday for its comment and review.

City Attorney Robert Lanzone prepared the ordinance after council members, particularly Nick Gust, complained that the city's hillsides were being torn up by dirt bike riders. Concern also was expressed for residents living near the trails who are subjected to listening to the dusk-to-dawn noise the off-road vehicles create.

In other action, the council

VOLUNTEER — Presented the PB&R Department's Volunteer of the Month award to Susan Chang and Cris Benner, both freshmen at Oceana High School, for their work with children at the Westview Child Care Center. Each girl spent more than 420 hours at the center this summer.

PLANNING COMMISSION — Accepted the resignation of R.E. Grindrod from the Planning Commission and appointed real estate agent Barbara Carr to take his place. Grindrod, a local builder, said that after his appointment he reconsidered accepting the seat because of a concern there would be an "unfair advantage" in being a commissioner and a contractor working exclusively in Pacifica. The term expires Jan. 13, 1982.

REVENUE-SHARING — Turned down a request from Friends to Parents for $5,000 in revenue sharing funds, with the council saying not enough Pacifica children participated in the program to justify the expenditure.

PUBLIC WORKS — Authorized City Manager Al St. Cyr to negotiate with Roy Jorgensen Associates, Inc. to review the public works activities. The consulting firm reviews city public works departments and recommends where cost and time savings can be made.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES — Upheld the appeal of a resident protesting a Planning Commission decision to allow the Assembly of God Church to use a modular building for religious services on a temporary basis.

Sondra Lee Serna filed the appeal because of concerns about parking and the length of time the building would be in use.

The council told a church representative that a permit for the modular building would not be considered until construction is begun on the new church. Council members were concerned that once a permit was issued for the temporary building, its use could stretch on for too many months.

The fine art of parent-child communication

By ARVILLE FINACOM

Have you ever felt that you couldn't communicate with your family? No matter what you said, you weren't understood?

You're not alone. Actually, it's a rare parent (or child) who hasn't experienced the frustration of being unable to say things clearly to loved ones.

Blood may be thicker than water, but it seems this very thickness gets in the way of good parent/child communication.

Many parents are much better able to talk with children other than their own. The same thing holds true for offspring. Friends' parents are often not only far easier to get to know but also they seem to understand the growing up process far better than one's own.

Some 10 to 15 years ago, a number of doctors, psychologists and knowledgeable lay persons interested in communication skills, especially those between parents and children, began to develop courses designed to help an average person understand and improve abilities to talk with and understand others.

In the early 1970s, a number of health and mental health professionals, including several psychologists and social workers from Daly City's North County Mental Health headquarters, developed a personalized communication series which built upon the work of a number of popular psychologist authors.

One of the first to take the newly developed "Parent Communication Course" was Alene Bedford of Pacifica, who went because, as a parent, she wanted to improve communication within her own family.

After completing the course and realizing what a difference use of some of the skills made in her own home, Bedford decided to become a PCC instructor.

Although PCC is designed basically for parents, Bedford and others in the program could see there was a need as well for a course where parents and their teen-agers might be exposed to similar skills at the same time. A family communication course was developed.

For several years this was offered through San Mateo County Mental Health Services. More recently it became a part of course offerings by Peninsula Hospital Community Mental Health Center in cooperation with San Mateo Union High School District's Adult Education program. Currently, it is offered on a fee basis as part of community services of the Peninsula Hospital Community Mental Health Center.

This fall's offering, "Family Communication Course for Parents and Teens," begins Oct. 29 and runs on the following Mondays for six weeks, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Community Child and Family Service Building, 1811 Trousdale Drive, Burlingame. Cost is $24 for an individual, $30 for a family for the series. Bedford is the instructor.

The course is not intended as therapy. Rather, it is designed as a way for parents and teens to get in touch with their own feelings and learn non-threatening ways of communicating them to each other. Participants learn how to make their own needs known and how to insure that others really hear what they are saying.

According to Bedford, participants find as they learn the skill of listening effectively they begin to see that "other people feel the same way."

The whole course is based on such an understanding of feelings. Tensions ease as participants approach one of the primary reasons behind a lack of effective communication. As Bedford puts it, "It's easier to avoid a discussion if it may lead to argument. Not many people thrive on conflict."

Of special interest is the fact that the "most intense problem areas" in parent-teen communication remain similar even among totally dissimilar groups of parents and teen-agers.

I asked Bedford to elaborate. She explained by summarizing a technique she uses in one of the first sessions. She divides the class and asks parents to list their "main gripes about living with teens." The teen-age group compiles its own list of "main gripes about living with parents."

Comparison of the lists shows mirror-image views of "freedom," "money," and "values" among others. Interestingly, both groups verbalize emphatically, "They (the parents or teens) expect me to be perfect!"

Central in the Family Communication Course is the idea that "our own basic needs are met when we can say what we mean in a non-threatening way to others." The listening and verbalizing skills one learns are "human communication ones," valuable not only in parent-child but also in person-person relationships. The bottom line — "What do I get out of it?" becomes greater dimension as a person.

Along with materials adapted from the basic PCC course, Bedford teaches values clarification and transactional analysis techniques based on the theories of such social scientist writers as Sid Simon, Muriel James and Haim Ginott.

A prepared bibliography lists books of value and participants are urged constantly to indicate additions to the list, materials they have personally found effective.

There is no attempt by Bedford nor others in the class to teach or advocate any one method over any other. Parents and teens are urged to "keep what they feel good about."

As she says, "Suggested skills are for the times when "you're stuck or under pressure." Hopefully, both parents and teens will learn a variety of problem solving and communication skills, ones which will result in "no win no lose" resolutions through which everyone's best interests are served.

Other offerings in the fall schedule for Peninsula Hospital Community Mental Health Center include the following: "Coping with Separation and Divorce," "Loss, Grief and Recovery," designed for those who have lost a family member through death, "Caring for Aging Parents" and "Enhancing Communication in Caring Relationships" which involves techniques of value in adult-adult communication.

Information about any of these courses may be obtained by calling Peninsula Hospital Community Mental Health Center Community Services Secretary Raenette Byers at 697-4061, ext. 214.

The Regent

By ROBIN MOELLER
Commissioner of Publicity
Serramonte High School

With negotiations once again brought to a standstill, the strike went into its fifth week with no apparent end in sight. Many feelings were expressed — mainly those of frustration.

There was an SOS meeting Oct. 1 at the club house in Gellert Park.

There are a few more teachers back at Serramonte, but apparently Serramonte still has less back than other schools.

There was a minimum day Oct. 3 for students. After noon, teachers were to turn in grades for the first credit session.

Night classes started Oct. 3. Registration was Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7.

Rollerskating isn't allowed on campus anymore. They say the reason has to do with insurance.

If you have not received your class schedule yet, you can pick it up at the registrar's office.

Serramonte school walls again are being covered with class posters, and the posters are receiving points for the various classes.

Interclass sports competitions still are being planned for fifth period — with points going to the class of the winning team.

The first rally of the year

Sept. 27 was successful. It featured the football team and the cheerleaders. Executive board members also were introduced.

Most clubs and sports have been discontinued during the strike, except for football. Also the Junior Statesmen Club has been organized.

The full run of school buses has not been operating, so many students have been forced to take SamTrans to and from school. The SamTrans buses have been overcrowded, and some people have requested more buses on the routes traveled.

As the strike continues, college-oriented students are particularly being hard hit.

Their college careers could possibly be damaged without the senior counselor and college-prep courses, which prepare them for their college future.

Some express the opinion that teachers who head college-prep courses should return to Serramonte for at least the period in which they teach these classes.

Some also think the senior class counselor should return, for without her college-bound seniors won't know how to apply for college.

Help Wanted

The following agencies have requested assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County.

SENIOR CENTER — Receptionist/host, hostess needed to take telephone messages and be a host or hostess to incoming seniors who inquire and come in for programs in Daly City.

HEAD START — Classroom assistants wanted to work with handicapped children in 17 sectors in San Mateo County. The children may have speech, hearing, visual impairments and/or other disabilities. There is a special need for Spanish speaking classroom assistants.

SUICIDE PREVENTION AND CRISES CENTER — Training classes for volunteers interested in manning a crisis line will begin Oct. 25 and will continue on consecutive Tuesdays and Thursdays until Dec. 6.

BLOOD BANK — Typist needed four hours a week at the Peninsula Blood Bank.

CHADBOURNE SCHOOL — A volunteer is needed to aid in a swimming program on a 1-1 basis with a physically handicapped junior high school boy, under the guidance of the instructor.

AID TO VICTIMS AND WITNESSES — Volunteers are needed in this North County program who will assist victims and witnesses in a supportive process.

Additional information about these and other opportunities are available at the Volunteer Bureau office in Burlingame, 342-0801.

Interviews will be made in Daly City by appointment.

North County answering service is 992-0957. A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the bureau shares in the United Way of the Bay Area and is funded in part, by San Mateo County.

Is this country becoming anti-child?

More than 100 years ago the poet Longfellow wrote: "Ah! what would the world be to us if the children were no more?"

We should dread the desert behind us
Worse than the dark before."

Perhaps Americans are about to find out what our country will be like with a scarcity of children.

Some two years ago Ann Landers asked her readers to comment on a question about whether to have children or not. Seventy percent of the 10,000 respondents said if they had to do it over again they would not have children.

Some of the people responded that children are too much bother, cause too many worries and are ultimately ungrateful to their parents. Meanwhile, the birth rate is declining among people affluent enough to raise happy children.

Such statements prompted author Karen Hurley to ask: Is America anti-child?, and publish an article by that name in a periodical known as "St. Anthony Messenger" (January 1979).

"Children used to be taken-for-granted part of private and public life," Ms. Hurley writes. "Now we increasingly choose them, plan them, even decide we'd rather not have them at all. At the same time, more American children than ever are being physically abused, growing up in poverty, spending significant portions of their days and evenings in homes where no adult is present."

Ms. Hurley reports that movies — one of our most popular art forms — give expression to this deep level of cultural discomfort with children and their meaning. A series of child-monster films continue to hit cinema houses across the country: "Rosemary's Baby," "The Exorcist,"

"It's Alive," "The Omen," "Damen — Omen II."

Citing books and articles by observers of the American scene to show that America is becoming anti-child, Ms. Hurley points to such problems as the refusal of landlords to rent to families with children and the ability of Americans to ignore a weeping child as symptoms of an even greater problem: Do we support parents? "Being a parent has changed meaning: today most women who raise children are employed — either part or full-time."

"Sometimes," she says, "it is said that these women work because they want luxuries and so forth. But, As Keniston insists, in most cases women work because their income is very important to their family's standard of living — including their children's standard of living."

This leads to problems of juggling children to meet inflexible work schedules, or teachers visits, or visits to the doctor. "A mother is just torn."

This situation has created the demoralization of American parents. "Being a parent today generates an enormous feeling of inadequacy."

Ms. Hurley and the authors she quotes write that many changes in attitude and public policy are necessary to regain the wholesome attitude towards children that used to be found in America.

"We need to build on the old American idea that being a parent is an honorable choice; and ... not a public service, exactly, but something the community respects and judges as worth doing."

Being parents should be something that a minority, even a majority of men and women will want to devote a significant portion of their time and life to."

"Is America Anti-Child?" is an article that attacks a problem that Americans should be considering — as Ms. Hurley says — "now."

Puppy's extra two toes

By DR. DAVID R.
BARNETT

Question: I bought a very expensive St. Bernard puppy from a pet shop recently. Now I'm concerned that he may have a flaw. My friend, who also has a St. Bernard, says that all St. Bernards must have two extra toes on the inside of their rear legs. My "Galahad" has only four toes on his hind feet. Does that mean that he is not a pure thoroughbred?

M.B.

Answer: The extra toes on the rear feet do not signify a purebred dog. Many mixed breeds, as well as purebred dogs have extra toes or dewclaws. What is important, is that you receive registration papers for the dog which you can send on to the American Kennel Club.

Question: I have heard that goldfish can stand very cold water temperature and have even survived being trapped in a block of ice. Our grandchildren have an outside fish pond and the carp seem to have made it fairly well so far — but I was wondering what might happen if we have real cold weather this winter.

L.H.

Answer: Goldfish are very hardy and can withstand somewhat lowered environmental temperatures. Water temperatures tend to remain more constant than air temperatures. However, if freezing temperatures persist and have lowered the water temperature considerably, the fish should be brought indoors.

Question: There was some mention in your column about whipworms. Where do they derive their name and what do they do to pets that makes them so dangerous?

G.B.R.

Answer: Whipworms are an intestinal parasite that derive their nutrients from the host animal. Symptoms of infection include diarrhea and occasional vomiting. The worms are about two inches long with a stout upper body and thread-like tail that resembles the appearance of a whip.

In these days of high food prices we are always happy to find new ways to prepare ground beef.

Here are two variations which feature flavor tricks from other lands: the Oriental Burgers including water chestnuts and a generous mixture of sliced scallions and the German Style Burgers with shredded raw potatoes and an equal amount of minced onion.

ORIENTAL BURGERS

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/4 cup chopped water chestnuts
- 2 tablespoons thinly sliced scallions or green onion

- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

In medium-sized bowl combine the beef, chopped water chestnuts, scallions, Worcestershire and salt. Mix gently but thoroughly. Shape meat mixture into four burgers. Arrange on a rack in a broiler pan.

Place under preheated hot broiler, three to four inches from heat source until done as desired, three to seven minutes on each side. Or place burgers in a hot skillet with a small amount of oil. Cook over high heat until done as desired, five to seven minutes on each side.

to seven minutes on each side. Serve on toasted buns, garnished with sliced scallions if desired. Yield, four portions.

GERMAN-STYLE BURGERS

- 1 pound ground beef
- 1/2 cup finely shredded raw potato
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon oil

In medium-sized bowl combine the beef, potato and onion, Worcestershire sauce and salt. Shape into four burgers, about one-inch thick.

In large skillet heat the oil. Cook burgers over low heat until done as desired, five to seven minutes each side, or arrange burgers on broiler pan. Place under preheated hot, three to four inches from heat source, until done as desired, five to seven minutes on each side.

By Elise Gendar, the Diet Workshop

Breakfast is the most important meal.

"I can't find two socks that match!" "Where's my history book?" "I'm gonna be late!"

Is this the early morning scene at your house? Kids dashing past the breakfast table in a rush to catch the school bus. Dad grabbing a doughnut to eat in the car. Mom making a hasty "diet" breakfast of black coffee and dry toast.

Bad scene. Breakfast is important for the whole family.

When it comes to heating the house or gassing up the car, we're all too aware these days that it takes fuel to produce energy. Food is the fuel that supplies people with energy.

All night our slumbering bodies have been busily converting the food we ate yesterday into energy for repairing and replacing tissue, and, in the case of young bodies, growing.

In the morning, everyone needs re-fueling. Only a nourishing, balanced breakfast will do the job efficiently and keep us operating at peak level until lunchtime.

A good breakfast is essential for the dieter. Without breakfast, he or she will be so hungry by noon that the temptation to eat too much lunch will be overwhelming.

I suggest that you hold a family conference and plan how to handle the morning rush hour so as to leave time for breakfast. To help eliminate that rushing, learn to set out clothes and accessories for the next day at bedtime, and pack lunches the night before.

DIET WORKSHOP WAFFLES

- 1 egg
 - 2 slices diet slice white bread
 - 1/3 cup non-fat dry milk powder
 - 1/2 tsp. imitation butter flavoring
 - 1/2 tsp. baking powder
 - 2 tablespoons water
 - 1 pack artificial sweetener
- Beat all ingredients together with electric mixer until thick and smooth. Pour onto hot, non-stick waffle iron. Cook until lightly browned.

RAISING THE FLAG

Fairmont resident William Kellner (right) and his stepbrother, Robert Calhoun, raise a new Old Glory in front of their Forest Lake Drive home. The two were bitterly upset when the flag they have raised for the past six years was stolen Monday. Kellner said his brother, a World War II veteran who is 90 percent blind, "broke down and cried" when he found the flag missing. But Kellner, a veteran of the Korean War, replaced the flag the next day with a new one. They vow to continue flying the stars and stripes "every single day."

OLYMPICS WINNER

Sandra Lee, a junior at Crestmoor High School, San Bruno, travelled this summer to Brockport, N.Y., "to go for gold" in the International Special Olympics. Sandra, a hard-working swimmer, won a gold medal in the 25 meter backstroke and a silver medal in the 25 meter freestyle. Now she is back practicing at Balboa pool in San Francisco with Coach Francis Lai to get ready for national competition next summer.

New Laguna Salada administrator worked way up through the ranks

By HEIDI VAN ZANT
Times Staff Writer

Dr. Norm Seward, the new assistant superintendent of the Laguna Salada Union School District in Pacifica, has worked his way up through the ranks from teacher to administrator.

And he has found that the classroom and the office are not that different.

"It's still like a teaching job, at another level," said Seward, 49, adding that once you learn how to deal with students and parents, it stays with you throughout your career.

Seward, who will be overseeing curriculum and personnel for the district, will commute to Pacifica from his Berkeley home. Should anyone think his 40-minute commute is too much, he points out it is not half as bad as it has been for him.

For four years he was director of curriculum and instruction for the Sylvan Union High School District in Modesto. So he lived in Modesto during the week and commuted home on weekends.

But the New York native, who sometimes carry a tape recorder with him during his commute to get a head start on the work day, said commuting great distances is the norm on the East Coast.

"One hour a day each way was a way of life," he said. He and his wife, Else, who works in the East Bay, have four children, ages 14, 16, 18 and 20.

He took the job with Laguna Salada because it is a bigger district and a bigger job with more responsibility.

Although he has only been in the district a few weeks, Seward has visited all the district's schools.

Vallejo School, a structured school with a back-to-basics educational approach, impressed him.

"I'm glad we're able to respond to that kind of desire," he said.

He also is impressed that the district already has been able to identify so many of its needs and goals. Now it is just a matter of following through on what needs to be done.

One issue he has singled out for a lot of attention is consolidation of seventh and eighth grade classes at several school sites, rather than scattering the declining number of older students at all schools.

But before any decision is made, the community must be made part of that decision, he stressed.

APPOINTED

Dr. Norm Seward has been named the new assistant superintendent of the Laguna Salada School District.

"We'll be sure parent groups see any proposal," he said.

Teachers also will be made a part of that decision, and all others, said Seward, who called their help "essential."

His teaching career began in 1961, where he began a seven-year stay with the Berkeley school system teaching third-sixth graders.

From there, he moved into administrative positions in Berkeley and Albany, gaining experience at the elementary, high school and adult school levels.

In 1975, he took the job in Modesto. And just prior to his appointment with Laguna Salada Union School District, he was named assistant superintendent of the Sylvan Union School District in Modesto.

The speculation is that Seward is being "groomed" to eventually replace Superintendent James Brien, who has announced he will be retiring in 1980.

Seward said no one has offered him the job, but some day "I want to be a superintendent."

Candidates night set Speakers expected include supervisorial candidates Clifford Boxley, John Cooper and Arlen Gregorio and college board candidate Tad Masaoka. Questions and answers will follow the candidate presentations.

NEW PAR COURSE

The newly completed 18-station par course at College of San Mateo will be dedicated in ceremonies to be held in front of the gymnasium Oct. 11 at 11 a.m. The course, which winds around the entire campus, is now open for use by students and community members. Coordinating the dedication activities are officers of the Associated Students of CSM, the organization whose efforts raised the $7,500 necessary to purchase the course. Planned are brief dedication speeches, music, and a presentation of ribbons to the first 25 persons completing the course following the dedication. According to Cliff Giffin, director of the physical education division, use of all the stations will help individuals build cardiovascular endurance, strength, speed, flexibility and agility and will promote normal symmetrical growth. Dave Moreno of Daly City and Jackie Baxmann of Foster City are working on the course.

A profile of San Jose Tigers Billy Wilson

Billy Wilson, the former great 49er pass receiver, obviously coaches the San Jose Tigers mainly for fun. Even though the Tigers were the top ranked semi-pro football team in America last year, Wilson figures he broke even financially, and doesn't plan on any profits this year, either.

It's not that Wilson coaches gratis. But he owns a liquor store in San Jose and every time the Tigers travel, he has to lay money out of his pocket to have people cover for him at the store.

Why does Wilson, comfortably well into his middle age, do it?

"I guess I'm like the players. I love it. A lot of the players sacrifice more than I do. They have to take days off from work on some travel days, or pass up chances for weekend work. When you roll in from a road trip at 3-4 a.m. on a Sunday morning, well, you start evaluating things, and the only answer you can come up with is that you love it."

In the back of Wilson's mind, however, as it is in almost every player's mind, is the idea that the Tigers may provide a springboard into pro ball. Wilson admits it. He coached for the 49ers for several years and under Mike Giddings for two years at Hawaii in 1974-75 in the ill-conceived World Football League, and liked it.

"I've put out a lot of feelers, and I've come close a couple of times, including some serious talks with the Bears — though I'd prefer to stay on the Coast — but it's tougher than I thought it would be, and frankly, it doesn't look too good right now. After you've been out of it a while, it's kind of tough to get back in. There are only one or two head coaches in the NFL right now who are around my age. It's kind of a fraternity, and it's hard to break."

There's little doubt that Wilson is qualified. Aside from his previous pro coaching experience, he's done a magnificent job with the Tigers. And, of course, there is his track record as a player, which gives him great credibility as a coach.

During his 10-year career with the 49ers, he caught 407 passes for 5,902 yards and 49 touchdowns, and still holds the all-time 49er record for receptions. He's behind only Gene Washington in yardage gained and TD's receiving.

His previous connection with pro ball also tends to make the Tigers pay attention to him for practical reasons. Half a dozen Tigers went into the 49ers tryout camp this year and got "treated right," given real shots to make the team.

As far as Wilson's concerned, those players were at the camp not because he has a "drag," but because they deserved the chance.

"I was surprised at the quality of play when I came in last year. I went into the service right out of high school, and got sick in my freshman year at San Jose State, and had to lay out a season. So I played a year of semi-pro — played both offensive and defensive end — with the old Mountain view Apaches, and did pretty well with no college experience. You couldn't do that in this league. Most players have played four years of college, and I have about a dozen who have had at least cups of coffee with the pros."

Wilson is full of praise for the "new" 49ers. "Bill Walsh, John Ralston, Mike White, they've been super, unbelievable in the way they've cooperated with us. It's just a different organization now than it was last year. In fact, I'm more excited about the 49ers than I have been in about 10 years."

"My only criticism of them is that I think it was dumb not to try to get Lou Spadia (former president of the club) back into the operation in some capacity. He's a low key guy, but he knows so many people, and he could have helped them — even last year."

Wilson is obviously resentful of last year's front office.

"No way can you run the kind of operation Joe Thomas was running in San Francisco. You can't come in, as he did, and say that Hugh McElhenny, Y.A. Tittle and Joe Perry are nothing anymore, that you not only don't want to see them, but you don't want to even hear about or talk about them. And Thomas proved it when he pulled all of the passes for the former 49ers."

Wilson's whole attitude toward the 49ers really curdled last year when he — along with other prominent former 49ers — wasn't even invited to the annual alumni gathering after 16 years as a 49er player and coach.

Wilson's fondest memories of the 49ers are during his playing years — and especially those of his roomie of nine years, McElhenny.

When Wilson was with the 49ers he rescued a lot of highlight films that they were throwing away. He shows them periodically, and his favorite parts are still the McElhenny runs.

"Some of those runs Mac made still look unbelievable. He could cut sharper than anybody I've ever seen. What Mac had, well, there's no way you can coach that. Either a running back has it or he doesn't. He had tremendous peripheral vision, a sixth sense that allowed him to 'feel' tacklers converging on him. O.J. Simpson's got it. How could you coach O.J. on when to turn it on and when to let up and when to go again?"

Williams' runs Serramonte by Westmoor

During the summer, Serramonte High's football team was wild over the prospect of 1,000-yard running back Steve Evans' adding a sorely needed rushing attack to an expected potent passing game.

But before the Illinois prep sensation could ever don a Regent uniform, his family moved to Anaheim. The loss of Evans has not proved a devastating blow to the Serramonte rushing attack, because it enabled Darryl Williams to showcase his talent. And the senior running back has been nothing short of sensational in three games this season.

Williams' 37-yard run set up the Regents only touchdown Friday as the defending North Peninsula League champions edged crosstown rival Westmoor 7-6 in the error-filled league opener for both clubs.

Making more turnovers than Sara Lee, the Daly City teams struggled to a scoreless tie through the first three quarters. Neither club came close to a score as four interceptions and five fumbles halted most of the offensive movement.

Westmoor broke the ice in the fourth quarter as Pete Sangervasi culminated an 11-play, three penalty drive with a two-yard touchdown run. The extra point attempt missed wide to the left. This set the stage for Williams.

After achieving a couple of first downs, Serramonte appeared to lose momentum after two incomplete passes. But with third down and five yards to go on the Rams' 42, Williams took a pitch from quarterback Robert Williams and sprinted for the left sideline.

Sensing daylight, the crafty running back cut upfield, eluded several defenders and broke for the open spaces. Only a diving tackle on the 5-yard line prevented him from scoring. Three plays later quarterback Williams dove in from the one with the tying touchdown. Chico Arcaya drilled through the game-winning extra point.

"We were just trying to get the first down on that play," Williams said. "We just ran it outside and everybody cracked down and it just broke."

In addition to his offensive heroics, the 6-0, 170-lb senior helped shut down Westmoor's feared shotgun offense.

"We just tried to stop number 25 (Ram standout Stuart Ramirez) and that 30 (Derron Jones) back from breaking outside," he said. "We did a pretty good job on 25. He is a good athlete, though, a smart player."

"Darryl was guarding what I thought was their best football player, and he did an excellent job," Regent Coach Ken Cook said.

Although Cook cited the defensive unit for its superb effort, he was not pleased with the offense.

"Defensively we'll play with anybody, but our offensive spark wasn't there," Cook said. "We had a couple of mix-ups on calls where we call one thing and they didn't get it in. A couple of fumbles hurt again."

Wide receiver Joe Nobles, who made his usual assortment of circus catches, noted that the fumbles this week did not have the same demoralizing effect as they did in last week's loss to St. Mary's.

"A couple of times after we fumbled, we'd get down," Nobles said. "We just told ourselves to bound right back. Last week we made turnovers that hurt us. We said, 'We'll let the defense handle it,' and took it in stride. This week we didn't do that."

Jeff 'hurries up' past Tigers

Jefferson High displayed some entertaining "hurry-up" plays to stifle visiting Terra Nova Friday, 27-20, in the North Peninsula League football opener for both teams.

The Indians rolled up 277 yards, most of it off an adept ever offense, but some of the most crucial Jefferson yardage resulted from these "hurry-up" plays.

"It's a pretty simple offense to execute really," said Jeff Coach Lou Sanchez, in his first year at the helm of the varsity.

"We noticed that Terra Nova was throwing adjusting defenses against its opponents. So we figured that by going with quick huddles, and even making up plays at the line of scrimmage, we could run our plays before the defense had the time to fully set up."

In fact, it was the latter method that eventually proved to be the game-winner for the Daly City squad.

In the waning moments of the third quarter, the Indians found themselves with the ball on the Tiger 37-yard line with a not-so-commanding 14-6 lead. As quarterback Richard Rodgers approached the line of scrimmage, saw a gaping hole in the opposing defense.

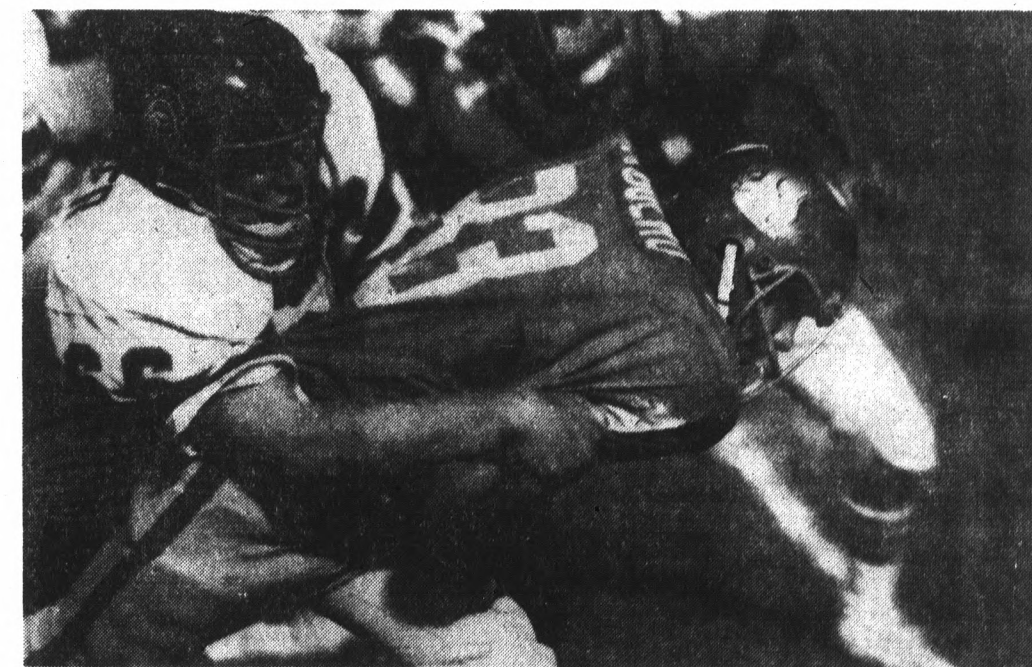

Instantly, he took the snap and waved wide receiver Manny Solas long. The play resulted in a 37-yard touchdown hook-up, making the score 20-6, and seemed to deflate Terra Nova.

"I don't know what we would do without Richard. He is such an intelligent player that he helps us in so many ways," noted senior fullback Sam Smith, who had a career high of 118 yards on 17 carries.

"He really makes it easy for the rest of us. I feel that with him at QB, and (returning all-leaguer Doug Cheatum and I in the backfield, we have a triple threat that is almost impossible to stop."

Sanchez agrees. "It looks like we have the potential to average 250 yards per game."

OH, NO YOU DON'T

SSF breaks long drought, takes home the bell trophy

"We got the bell!"

That was the cry from South San Francisco High's football team after it had defeated frustrated El Camino 25-6 Friday night at Clifford Field in the North Peninsula League opener for both teams.

The victory, South City's first in NPL play since 1977, reclaimed the perpetual bell trophy, which annually goes to the South San Francisco city champion.

The hero of the evening for the Warriors was halfback Carl Montgomery, who turned in a stellar performance, picking up 152 yards on 18 carries, scoring one touchdown and setting up another with a 34-yard run.

"We knew we were going to win," said Montgomery. "We worked for hours just for this game. The line opened up huge holes. They were so big, I could have walked through them."

First-year coach Mike Tenerowicz was ecstatic. "This victory feels great, especially over El Camino."

Our seniors had never beaten the Colts in their two years, so they were excited," he said.

The Warriors celebrated the victory by popping open cans of soda and spraying the foam over anyone who appeared in the locker room doorway. After last season's 0-5-2 disaster and an 0-3 pre-season mark this year, the victory was quite satisfying.

South City opened the scoring, capitalizing on a Colt fumble at the Colt 37-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Montgomery pummeled through the Colt line and picked up 34 yards, moving the ball down to the 3-yard line. From there, Earl Powell hurdled over the goal line to put SSF ahead, 6-0.

For the remainder of the contest, South City dominated both offensively and defensively.

El Camino finally got its offense moving a bit with a little over a minute to go. Senior quarterback Rob Canepa moved the Colts from their own 21-yard line, hitting wide receive Bill Aguero on a 30-yard strike. After two incomplete passes, Canepa hit Aguero once again, this time for 36 yards. The scoring drive culminated in a 13-yard pass from Canepa to Aguero.

South City outdistanced El Camino 238 yards to 151, 225 yards of which were on the ground.

Skyline has busy schedule

A complete slate of six sports will feature the 1979-1980 Skyline College fall and winter sports program. Director of Athletics Walt Rilliet has announced.

During the fall term the Trojans will be in the thick of the Coast Conference competition in soccer, women's volleyball, and men and women cross country.

Included will be the addition of two new coaches to the fall sports coaching staff. One is Nick Nicolas who was named officially as the college's soccer coach by the San Mateo County Community College District Board of Trustees Sept. 26.

Nicolas took over the soccer coaching chores at the beginning of the semester following the automobile accident death of Coach Norm Friedeberg. The new coach is ranked as one of the college's all-time great soccer players, having been an all-league player as a member of the Trojan soccer team in 1970 and 1971, top player for San Jose State University, and a member of the Portland professional soccer team.

He holds the Skyline scoring mark with 26 goals in one season. He also was an active student on the Skyline campus, being a student body president in spring 1971 (the year he was graduated) and a member of the college's newspaper, Skyline Press.

Nicolas' coaching background has included San Jose State University assistant coach, Mills High School head coach, and last season assistant coach to Friedeberg.

The other new coach is Gary Bluth. During the past seasons he has been assisting cross country and track and field coach Bob Lualhati in building the college's women's sports programs. Now he takes over the duties as the women's cross country coach.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Mimi and Disolina open Italia deli

Something bright and delicious has just happened on 25th Avenue in San Mateo! MIMI and DISOLINA, the "LaVerne and Shirley" of the deli biz, recently opened a new Italia Delicatessen on this friendly shopping street. They feature homemade salads, imported and domestic cheeses, cold cuts, beer and wine, and other deli delights. Take-out service and party trays are also available. When well known Chef ARNAUD took over the lunch and dinner food operation at the intimate LES JON'S restaurant/cocktail lounge in Burlingame, the word spread fast that the same bountiful family-style Basque dinners that he made famous on San Francisco's Broadway were being served. The full dinners include two meat entrees. Loren Erickson, well known on the Peninsula for his master mixing, has been appointed bar manager at JIM SNIADOCKI'S SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S restaurant in Redwood City. Have you tried the new Zombie served at LA PINATA in downtown Burlingame? Understand the recipe was given to Owner CHRIS VLASSIS by Jose Gonzales of the El Camino Hotel in Puerto Vallarta. Celebrity-spotting is a popular pastime at CAPTAIN CHARLES, a luxurious gourmet seafood and Polynesian restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. Many leading social figures, civic and political leaders, and theatrical and entertainment celebrities seek out this restaurant for its superb food, intimate surroundings and discreet service.

Among sports stars dining at PHIL LEHR'S Pay-By-Ounce STEAKERY, on the lower level of the S.F. Hilton Tower, the other evening was Giants pitcher Tom Griffey, who signed autographs for admiring fans between bites of New York steak. Observed relaxing at DAL BAFFO, a sophisticated European restaurant in Menlo Park, were several of the leading socialites and hard-working, public-spirited figures from Portola Valley, Woodside, Menlo Park and Atherton. Their tireless efforts made the recent "Tally Ho" weekend fundraising event at the prestigious Menlo Circus Club a resounding success. Why go to the trouble of learning how to cook Chinese food to enjoy at home when you can just pick up the phone and order it home delivered from GONG'S Chinese restaurant in South San Francisco? This Sunday would be a good time to enjoy the easy drive to the coastside for the Sunday Breakfast Special at TILLIE'S LIL FRANKFURT, a cozy German and continental restaurant in Moss Beach. You'd be helping a worthy cause at the same time, as TILLIE SCHOLTZ is giving all the proceeds to the Coastside Lutheran Church. Parking is no problem at VINCE'S Seafood and Italian restaurant. This longtime San Mateo landmark occupies the center of a huge open area marked off for parking for both the restaurant and the adjacent VINCE'S SEAFOOD DEPOT.

Belly dancer is Finocchio hit

FINOCCHIO'S, a world famed San Francisco night-spot known for top-flight entertainment, once again presents the new and exciting JOHN COMPTON, a handsome sheik known throughout the Bay Area, performs his tantalizing belly dance to the delight of all. Compton was the center attraction of the entertainment on the opening evening of the King Tut Exhibit. Also new to the Finocchio stage is MAURY RICHARDS, a singer of blues and ballads. Open nightly, except Mondays. Gourmet chef SLAVKO VIDUCHICH, who used to do the cooking at Tadich's in San Francisco for many years, now runs his own seafood restaurant called the ATLANTIC on "B" Street. Through his connections among the fishermen he gets a choice of the catch direct from the boats at Fisherman's Wharf everyday. Also, Eastern delicacies, such as Boston scrod and Maine lobsters, are flown in fresh. You don't have to be ravenously hungry when visiting ROMANO'S restaurant in Rockaway Beach, Pacifica, but it sure helps. Particularly if you order spaghetti, pizza or one of the other pasta productions. Genial host/owner ENRICO ROMANO likes to see his patrons enjoy his food, which is served in generous portions. If you're not all that hungry, there is plenty else to tempt you, from sandwiches to salads.

The bountiful buffet at THE KING'S TABLE in Redwood City has to be seen and tasted to be fully experienced. The all-you-can-eat offerings at lunch ($2.55) and dinner ($3.99) present a wide choice of appetizers and entrees, while the big Sunday Champagne Brunch ($3.19) is also a production. Dedicated football fans BILL and BARBARA MONROE of ROSEBUD'S ENGLISH PUB are back in San Francisco after traveling with the Washington State football team (Bill's alma mater) to Ohio for the Ohio State game. Just about the only thing that beats sleeping late on Sunday morning is the fabulous brunch at LEHR'S GREENHOUSE in San Francisco, where you dine in a beautiful garden in full bloom. Start with an eye-opening Ramos Fizz. Bloody Mary or glass of wine — included in the modest price. Sunday brunch from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The big special introduced last week at ALFREDO'S proved such a hit, they are repeating it again with an added bonus. The $8.95 "Turt and Surf" combination of prime rib and broiled lobster, served with pasta, French bread and butter, and a complimentary glass of wine if you bring in their ad from today's "Bright Lights" section. Weddings, banquets and parties of all types are a specialty at RAY PLUNKETT'S TAHOE MARINER hotel/casino in North Lake Tahoe. A gourmet dining room feature is turtle steak. Under the guidance of new owner HAEKUN CHOI, THE CYPRESS HOUSE, a time-honored landmark restaurant/cocktail lounge in Half Moon Bay, has undergone a transition. Dinner is served seven days a week, lunch by advance reservation only for groups of 10 or more.

Catholic Women are sponsoring Oct. 17. Mrs. Sal Machi, Mrs. Harry Linder and Mrs. Thomas DiMaggio are chairing this outing to Bay Meadows.

Today is the last day to reserve your ticket for this event too. If you are interested in purchasing a ticket for $11 per person, call Mrs. Linder. Ticket holders will be admitted to the field, provided with a complimentary program and served a sumptuous luncheon in the Turf Club.

On Oct. 26, members of the Daly City area chapter of AARP will take a cruise of slightly less length. Mrs.

Doris Johnson, tour chairman, has made arrangements for the club to help celebrate Senior Citizen month with a Bay Cruise.

Members of this tour will leave San Francisco's Pier 41 at 11 a.m. for a scenic cruise around the Bay before returning to San Francisco, where a no-host luncheon will be enjoyed. Cost of the tour will be $250 per person.

Members who do not especially enjoy the water can stay on dry land and enjoy the junket to Reno planned for early next week. Space on the bus is limited, but anyone wishing to check on the possibility of a late reservation should call Mrs. Johnson immediately.

There is a continuing need for paperback books and late edition magazines to be used by patients at Mary's Help Hospital.

through the wards to keep patients supplied with reading materials.

Members of the local AARP group enjoyed guest speaker Barbara Delatoni's message concerning Supplementary Security Income (SSI) at Tuesday's club meeting.

In addition to the informative talk on SSI, members had an opportunity to nominate officers and chairpersons for the new term, which will begin in January.

Milton Locke, club president, also urged members to remember that tickets must be purchased in advance for the annual Christmas luncheon, which will be Dec. 10 at the Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco. Tickets already are available and members are urged to make their reservations as soon as possible.

Contest Rules

- Select the number of each game by placing an "X" in the box on the margin side of the team you think will win. If you predict that the game will end in a tie, place an "X" only in the column headed "Tie" between the two teams. If the game ends in a tie, the credit will be given only to contestants who predict the tie.
- Write the total net yards rushing and passing for the designated team will make in the box provided. This estimate will be used only in case of ties between two or more contestants.
- Clip and mail the entry blank to:

FOOTBALL CONTEST
San Mateo Times
P.O. Box 5400
San Mateo, Calif. 94402

- Entries must be postmarked prior to midnight Thursday of this week or delivered to the Times prior to 5:30 p.m. Thursday of this week. The Times is not responsible for entries lost, delayed or destroyed or which fail to reach the Times by 9:30 a.m. on Saturday.
- A $25 cash prize will be awarded to the best entry submitted each week. An additional $25 will be awarded if the best entry is submitted by a Times subscriber or the entrant indicates immediate home delivery of the Times is wanted.
- In the event a winner cannot be determined by use of a tie-breaker, the prize money will be divided equally among the eligible contestants who had for the week's best entry. Check the appropriate box at the bottom of the entry form to become eligible for the additional $25.
- A $100 cash prize will be awarded to a Times subscriber or entrant who indicates immediate home delivery of the Times is wanted, who selects all 15 games correctly. In the event two or more entrants select all 15 games correctly, the tie-breaker will not be used; instead, the $100 cash prize will be divided among all of the eligible entrants who selected all 15 games correctly. Check the appropriate box at the bottom of the entry form to become eligible for the $100 cash prize.
- Cash prizes will be payable only to the contestant identified on the entry blank. Winning contestants will be required to show identification.
- Number of entries from one household is limited to three (3) including only one (1) facsimile of the official entry blank permitted per household submission of more than three entries or one facsimile will render all facsimiles submitted by that contestant void.

WHAT'S IN IT FOR ME?

News, and lots of other stuff! Like sports. TV, movie and music reviews. Personality stories and hobby columns. Goings on around town. We've got the kind of information a teenager needs to enjoy the present and get ready for the future. Want a part time job? Check the classifieds. Planning a special date? There's coverage of weekend events. Need ideas for a school project? Scan the main news and special features on science, the arts, business and social trends. There's more to life than a burger, fries and Saturday night at the disco. (And more than you'll see on the 6 o'clock news.) For young people looking ahead - to jobs, college, travel - our newspaper is a great way to tune in on that world out there. Get into the newspaper habit.

What's in it for you? The answer

Guaranteed Food Savings at Lucky

Guaranteed Food Savings at Lucky!

Every supermarket seems to claim the lowest prices. But there's only one way to measure real savings...and that's with a lower total at the checkstand. That's why Lucky Discount Supermarkets guarantee you the lowest total on your food bill, or we'll refund you double the difference! Discount pricing means low prices on every item on your shopping list, every day of the week. That adds up to a lower total at the checkstand. And that's the only way to measure real food savings. For guaranteed savings on your weekly food bill - Lucky Has It!

Here's Our Guarantee

After you've made your normal weekly grocery purchases at Lucky, compare with any other supermarket.* If the total amount for the same or comparable items is less at the other supermarket*, WE'LL REFUND YOU DOUBLE THE DIFFERENCE! Simply bring us your shopping list of 25 or more different items (worth at least $20) and your Lucky receipt, along with the prices of the other supermarket*. When it comes to your food bill, we guarantee that no other supermarket saves you more than Lucky!
